Course Description

This online course allows students to explore how their exposure to artistic expressions, such as painting, poetry, stories, theatre and music, has influenced their personal identity. Through the study of the arts, students will reflect on where they fit into the broader cultural, social and Indigenous contexts and develop an understanding of how their identities are impacted by various artists, writers, poets and musicians. Students are naturally curious to discover who they are as individuals and how their perception has changed from childhood to adulthood. Studying various art forms on their journey of self-exploration allows them to think about their lives, their identities, their destinies, and where they fit in.

Prerequisites: None.

Program Standards

The Ministry of Colleges and Universities oversees the development and the review of standards for programs of instruction. The Ministry of Labour Training and Skills Development oversees the development and the review of standards for programs of instruction for Apprenticeship training in the province of Ontario. Each college is required to ensure that its programs and program delivery are consistent with these standards, and must assist students to achieve these essential outcomes.

This course contributes to Program Standards as defined by the Ministry of Colleges and Universities (MCU). Program standards apply to all similar programs of instruction offered by colleges across the province. Each program standard for a postsecondary program includes the following elements:

- Vocational standards (the vocationally specific learning outcomes which apply to the program of instruction in question);
- Essential employability skills (the essential employability skills learning outcomes which apply to all programs of instruction); and
- General education requirement (the requirement for general education in postsecondary programs of instruction that contribute to the development of citizens who are conscious of the diversity, complexity and richness of the human experience; and, the society in which they live and work).

Collectively, these elements outline the essential skills and knowledge that a student must reliably demonstrate in order to graduate from the program. For further information on the standards for your program, follow the MCU link (www.tcu.gov.on.ca/pepg/audiences/colleges/progstan/).

PLAR options include authentic assessment activities designed by faculty that may include challenge exams, portfolio presentations, interviews, and written assignments. Learners may also be encouraged and supported to design an individual documentation package that would meet the learning requirements of the course. Any student who wishes to have any prior learning acquired through life and work experience assessed, so as to translate it into a college credit, may initiate the process by applying through the Registrar's office. ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Academic Integrity refers to honoring an ethical and moral code regarding the honest creation of an individual's own work and the acknowledgement of contributions from others to that work.

Academic Integrity Violations and Sanctions

Academic integrity breaches are assessed according to the severity and number of offences. A breach will be assessed based on a system that includes four (4) types of violations and corresponding sanctions as depicted below.

1. TYPE I violations may be deemed to be minor in nature and to have affected a small portion of the work in question Mandatory sanction: Mandatory completion of an Academic Integrity module.

Optional sanctions: 1. Resubmission of the original assessment piece 2. Submission of a new assessment piece 3. Portion of assessment piece receives a grade of "0" resulting in a reduced overall grade.

2. TYPE II violations are of a more serious or extensive nature than the ones described in Type I or are those which affect a more significant aspect or portion of the work.

Mandatory sanction: A grade of "0" on the assignment and completion of an Academic Integrity Education module.

3. TYPE III violations affect a substantial portion of work done to meet course requirements and/or involve premeditation, or a student has repeated Type I or II violations. Students will not receive refunds for disciplinary actions.

Mandatory sanction: Grade of "0" for the course and completion of an Academic Integrity Education module.

4. TYPE IV violations are reserved for the most serious breaches of academic integrity and/or incidents preceded by repeated violations at all previous levels. Students will not receive refunds for disciplinary actions.

Mandatory sanction: Suspension from the College for a minimum of one semester.

PLAGIARISM

In essence, plagiarism is the submission for credit of work taken without due documentation from an existing source. One form of plagiarism involves direct incorporation, without proper credit, of phrases, passages of text, images, or data of any kind from an existing source. A second form involves using data or information without proper credit (even though the incorporated information is paraphrased or otherwise not in direct form). The following are all types of plagiarism:

1. Copying text word-for-word from the Internet without giving proper credit.
2. Incorporating text from the Internet, but inadequately paraphrasing or summarizing (for example, just changing a few words). Note that this is plagiarism whether or not it is properly cited. A paraphrase, in particular, must be unrecognizably related to the original source text.
3. Submitting an assignment and claiming it as your own when it was actually written by someone else or copied from someone else.
